Political Science 203

HISTORY OF AMERICAN POLITICAL THOUGHT

Mondays and Wednesdays, 4-5:15 p.m.
319 Fitzelle Hall

Course Description

This course will survey the history of American political thought from the European conquest of the Americas to the present, in a selective and somewhat thematic manner. The course will begin with inquiries into the political thought of the Puritans, the revolutionary generation, and the framers of the U.S. Constitution. Next we will examine attempts to democratize American social and political institutions and to eliminate slavery in the early nineteenth-century. The third segment of the course will investigate the emergence of industrial society and the effects of mass immigration and ethnic diversity on American political culture. Finally, the semester will end with a sampling of recent approaches to American political culture and institutions in an age of relative affluence and technological advancement.

Course Goals

The primary aim of the course will be to give students an historical overview of American political thought and culture. The course will also serve to introduce students to the writings of several influential political thinkers, including leaders of the founding generations of colonial and republican America; Tocqueville, Thoreau, and Lincoln; modern industrialists and their critics; and recent social and cultural commentators. Finally, the course will offer students an opportunity to develop their critical reading, thinking, and writing skills.

Course Requirements

Reading. This course will have a heavy yet quite rewarding reading list. Students will be expected to keep up with the reading throughout the semester. Plan to spend a fair amount of time reading before attending class and, at times, re-reading after class. In general, texts are to be brought to our meetings so that they may be referred to in lecture and discussion.

Course Meetings and Discussion. Most course meetings will consist of a mix of lecture and informal discussion. Students should expect to attend class meetings consistently and punctually and be ready to discuss the subjects and texts under investigation in a civil manner. Students will be assigned the job of helping to begin at least one class discussion during the semester, and all students will be expected to participate in class discussions with some regularity. Performance in our discussions will strongly influence the participation grade.

Writing and Examinations. Students will be required to: write several 1½-2 page summary and reaction papers; take two take-home midterm examinations; and write a take-home final examination and project.

Required Texts

David Brooks, Bobos in Paradise: The New Upper Class and How They Got There (Touchstone, 2000).
Grading and Attendance Policies

Grades will be assigned on an 100-point scale and weighted in the following manner:

1. First take-home midterm Mon., 23 September 15%
2. Second take-home midterm due Mon., 21 October 20%
3. Six 1½-2 page text reaction papers due at various times 18%
4. One 1½-2 page film reaction paper due Mon., 11 November 2%
5. Term project due Mon., 16 December 15%
6. Take-home final examination Mon., 16 December 20%
7. Participation 10%

TOTAL: 100%

Written assignments will include two take-home essay midterms; six 1½-2 page papers summarizing and reacting to readings; one 1½-2 page paper summarizing and reacting to a film; a term project of 4-5 pages; and a take-home final examination.

The schedule of papers and exams appears above and below. You will be expected to meet all of the deadlines listed. Exceptions will be made only in extreme and unavoidable circumstances. If you miss or expect to miss a deadline, contact me as soon as possible. Either attend my office hours, or give me a note or an e-mail message explaining your circumstances.

The six 1½-2 page reaction papers will be graded minimally: plus, check, check/minus, minus. Pluses will earn extra credit (3.5%), with checks gaining full credit (3%); check/minuses receiving partial credit (2%); and minuses receiving reduced (1%) or zero credit. There are nine possible reaction papers – each student must write at least six, and one must be written every third time (so at least one among assignments 1-3, one among assignments 4-6; and one among assignments 7-9). The grade will be based on the best six papers completed, if more than six are written. No late papers will be accepted. Details on this requirement are given on the handout attached to this syllabus.

Regular, timely attendance is mandatory. Unexcused absences and tardiness will be noted and will affect grades negatively. The fourth unexcused absence will lower your grade one step (for example, from a B+ to a B). Each subsequent absence will lower your grade another full step. More than six unexcused absences may result in a failing grade, or involuntary withdrawal from the course.

Tardiness will also be noted. After the third late arrival, every instance of tardiness will be treated as an absence. Course meetings are few and brief, so be in class and be on time.

If you have a good reason to be absent or late, notify me in writing as soon as possible, explaining and documenting your absence. Either give me a note in class or send me an e-mail message. I will notify you if I accept your explanation or if we need to talk more about it during my office hours.

Expect to attend class for the whole period, focusing on coursework throughout. If you have a good reason for arriving late or leaving early, please notify me in advance in writing (e-mail is best). If you cannot notify me in advance, do so as soon as you can afterwards.

All students are required to attend class during the final examination period.

As a courtesy to all, please turn off pagers and telephones while in class.

Note that this entire syllabus is subject to change at the discretion of the instructor.
